

Thread-Specific Storage

The programs `calculateWithLoop.cpp` and `threadLocalSummation.cpp` are examples of porting a single-threaded to a multithreading application.

- What are the differences between the variants?
- What performance improvement do you expect from the multithreaded version?