

`std::jthread`

The `std::jthread` constructor accepts a function that takes a `std::stop_token` as its first argument.

 The function can check if a stop has been requested.